JAVA

It is the island in Indonesia on which the Dutch and British first set foot. It is the most populous island and the heart of the commercial and industrial center of the world. The island is administratively divided into four provinces (Banten, West Java, Central Java, and East Java), one special region (Yogyakarta), and one special capital area (Jakarta).

One of the seven wonders of the world, the Borobudur Temple, dominates the landscape of Java. Located in Magelang, Central Java, it is the biggest Buddhist temple and has the largest and most complete ensemble of Buddhist relics in the world. Only 1 3 km from Bandung, you can visit the Candi Temple. The Borobudur Temple is the most magnificent and beautiful Hindu temple complex in Indonesia. In Yogyakarta, you can visit Borobudur Temple, a world heritage site and a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

KALIMANTAN

Kapuas Park, a nature and wildlife reserve in Central Kalimantan, is the world's largest rainforest, with a height of more than 200 meters. Tanjung Puting National Park, one of Indonesia's most famous national parks, is home to the Bornean orangutan, pygmy elephants, and macaques. It is also home to various kinds of birds. The Black Orchid, or “Cologenia gigantea,” is one of the most beautiful orchids in the world. The island is administratively divided into four provinces (Borneo, West Kalimantan, South Kalimantan, and East Kalimantan).

SULAWESI

Sulawesi, also known as Celebes, is the 11th largest island in the world. It has beautiful beaches, coral gardens, and wildlife reserves. The equator monument in Pontianak city is the spot where the international date line, the demarcation line between the Rim of the World and the East, crosses. To see the rim of the world, you must cross the equator. The westernmost island of the Indonesian archipelago lies here in Sulawesi. See the traditional performance of Reog Ponorogo and the world's largest elephant, the Javanese elephant, in Yogyakarta.

PAPUA

Papua, also known as Irian Jaya, is the largest of the Indonesian islands, with a population of about 12.5 million people. It is home to many ethnic groups, including the Papuans, who speak the Papuan language, and the Mbuti, who speak the Mbuti language. The island is home to many species of birds, including the kingfisher, the hornbill, and the parrot. The island is also home to many species of mammals, including the bornean rhinoceros, the Sumatran tiger, and the orangutan. The island is also home to many species of reptiles, including the crocodile, the snake, and the lizard. The island is also home to many species of plants, including the orchid, the fern, and the palm.
